More specific information on equipment and clothing will be presented at the Parent Information Night prior to season commencement. Local swaps and retailers are a good source of equipment.

Ski Clothing

Check weather conditions before dressing your child for skiing as Calgary's weather is extremely variable. The following are basic guidelines for clothing:

- Base layer should be synthetic which will wick away moisture and keep your child dry.
- Middle layer should be thicker than the base layer and ideally made of synthetic material. ▪ Outer layer should be a winter jacket for younger skiers (Bunnies, JR1 and JR2). Older skiers may opt for a light breathable jacket with some wind proofing abilities. Pants should be waterproof/water resistant or snow pants. Fleece pants are not acceptable.
- Dressing in layers gives the option to remove a layer once your child has warmed up. All coaches carry backpacks with them and can carry extra layers if needed. Stay away from any cotton base or mid layers. Cotton fabric stays wet and offers no warmth when wet.
- Warm socks, ideally a wool synthetic blend or other ski sock.
- Hats and gloves/mitts and potentially neckwarmers are a necessity. Ideally, gloves and mitts should shed snow and be breathable. Fleece mitts and gloves are not acceptable as they will get wet and cold.

Bunnies Clothing

Bunnies tend to get colder more quickly as their bodies don't yet have the ability to regulate temperature well. Snowsuits with a base layer and possibly a mid-layer are appropriate. Bunnies gloves/mitts tend to have a lot of snow contact. Snow shedding and/or water-proof mitts are recommended.
